A: if this link is not working, add this to the url in the address bar of your browser: Republicans shut down the government over an immigration law they can't even bring themselves to enforce. The House passed a budget that cuts food stamp programs for millions of Americans, cuts essential medical services for millions of people, cuts critical education programs, and re-imposes brutal sanctions on Iran. Meanwhile, even though Republicans believe it is essential to cut taxes for the very wealthiest Americans, they decided to shut down the government. This is like a boss who spends all his time at work, and who even forbids employees to get a day off, all because he's so busy getting stuff done. The idea that President Obama doesn't have enough time to get things done is laughable. Not only does he have all the time in the world to get things done, but the Republicans are completely failing to prove otherwise. Even when they have a majority in both the House and the Senate, the Republicans have managed to do exactly nothing. Republicans in the House and Senate have passed a budget with no provisions that would improve our economy, and with no provisions that would make it easier for businesses to create jobs. Republicans in the House have even passed a bill that would make the job of complying with the Iran sanctions more difficult for small businesses. Yet, despite these efforts, our economy has not grown stronger, and tens of millions of Americans are still struggling to pay the bills. At the same time, Republicans are unable to pass a budget for the Department of Homeland Security that funds a border wall. At the same time, they're unable to pass a budget that would allow the Senate to confirm critical personnel at the Department of Homeland Security, at the FBI, at the DEA, and at the Drug Enforcement Administration. Yet, despite all of this, the Republicans chose to shut 82157476af
